

Paving Your Passionate Teaching Path: Summer Edition

Despite popular belief, I know that teachers work during the summer. This is the time they catch-up on all the things they wanted to do last year but had no time.

We are back with 3 special challenges just for the summer!

June You Matter	July New Tools	August Help Wanted
--------------------------------------	-------------------------------------	---

June: Health, Fitness, Meal Planning, Beauty, Shopping, Hobbies

July: Technology in the Classroom, Latest Research, New Teaching Methods, New Trends, Book Studies

August: Family Bonding, Building Faith, Friendship Connection, Traditions, Holidays,

WARNING!

Do not look at the list of challenges listed under each month and think “I will never have the time.” You are right, you don’t.

BABY STEPS

Just like with our main challenges, we will only do 1 of those challenges each year. We will be building a binder of tools over the months together. Each day we will get a little better than the day before.

Remember, I promised it wouldn’t hurt.

Small changes make the biggest difference.

Today you took the chance to sign up for my email.
Tomorrow, we will start taking our first step together!
